DEDICATION

Mr. Verstegen shows Mrs. Mogan another task to be completed before her long day ends at 5:00.

Mrs. Mogan shows Mrs. Diercks how to run off a master, one of the jobs she took on to help Mrs. Mogan with her many office duties.

Mrs. Mogan has many jobs as a high school secretary; she not only does office work, but also serves as a friend or advisor.

At the end of a year in which many evenings and weekends were spent in the preparation of our annual, we choose some special person to dedicate our annual to. Just as the annual is a representative of a year of school life, so this person must also be a worthy representative of our school. There are indeed many worthy persons but we have endeavored to choose a person who is both respected and liked by the student body. A person to whom we have all, at sometime, looked for understanding and guidance, who is eager to help and encourage us, who will always occupy a unique place in our memories and for whom we have a special feeling. So it is with very deep appreciation for your many kindnesses that we dedicate the 1966 Greywolf to you, Mrs. Mogan.

Standing with tears in her eyes, Mrs. Mogan modestly receives her standing ovation after the dedication announcement.

Each year the staff tries to bring into focus one aspect of school life to make the student more aware of its presence, to make the annual more than a reference book. Some say we spend too much time developing our theme instead of making sure that everyone's picture is on every page possible. However, we try to hit a happy medium, the only solution without giving up our one chance to say that school is more than clubs, turnouts and classes. School is the sum of what one can gain from these activities. One part of this sum is . . . maturity.

CANDLELIGHT AND ROYALTY ADDED ROMANCE TO A PARISIAN THEME

General chairman, Laurie Teitzel, gets a point across concerning prom plans with the help of decorations chairman, Cathy Black.

Juniors worked right up to the last moment to finish the Eiffel Tower, their floor piece.

Travel posters from Paris accent the french theme.

Waiting in silence for the guests and music the Junior Prom was ready for its 9:00 debut.

The Junior Class hosted the Seniors, on April 30, to an evening in Paris. "Paris by Night," under the guidance of general chairman, Laurie Teitzel, was an evening to be long remembered. This year a royal court reigned during the evening. The juniors spent many long hours trying to make April 30 a special evening for all concerned. They ran up against many problems, trying to use new ideas on decorations, refreshments, and program. But, through the efforts of many people, the Junior Prom though long time coming was a happy success.

A parisian fountain and a shining tree enhanced the French motiff of "Paris by Night."

King Dick and Queen Judy with their royal court were the highlight of the evening.

SENIORS PAY EXPENSES

November was the first busy month for the seniors, because the traditional dance and play were both within a week of each other. November 19, the mystery-comedy, Inside Lester, was performed for the adult audience with a few interesting ad-libs. November 27, a discotheque, "'66 A Go-Go", was held in the multi-purpose room with pop art for wall decorations.

Co-operation was the key word for the 1966 senior class functions, turning out two fine productions.

Arlene Tjemsland, decoration chairman, won one of the LP's given away by the D.J.

Go-Go dancers, Jeannette (pictured) and Pam Echternkamp, added the final touch to the discotheque.

D.J., Dean Jones, from Spokane acted as emcee for the evening.

Tensions were shared by members of the cast before their first performance.

The class of '66 launched into high school with the most successful Sophomore Hop in many years. However, hampered by becoming the smallest class their senior year, they experienced difficulty in maintaining a majority, governing membership in activities. Despite such difficulties this senior group managed to represent their class in all student body functions, and exhibited outstanding performances in football, debate, F.F.A. and thespians. For the first time, they became aware and appreciative of each other as a group. Perhaps they realized that for the last time they would be together with a single goal, graduation, to make them a group. They realized, also, that even at reunions, they would be individuals and not the Senior Class that they were in '66.

Graduation exercises climaxed a fun-filled, busy senior year.

GRADUATION - "A GOAL ACHIEVED, A FUTURE

Seniors were proud to finally move up on the stage at awards assembly, which signified their graduation to come.

During the final week before commencement, the seniors were involved in a flurry of activities; slumber parties, finals, banquets, and baccalaureate and graduation practices. This occurred at a time when they were caught in the realization that soon their high school days would be ended. The class motto, "A Goal Achieved, A Future Begun," expressed the mood and excitement of graduation night, June 1. Class colors of lavender and white and their flower, the lilac, remain as symbols of the class of '66.

Parents, classmates and friends offer congratulations to the proud class of '66.

Seniors and parents enjoyed the annual banquet held in the parents' honor.

Seniors line up for the processional before Baccalaureate which was held Sunday night, May 29.

BEGUN"

Tears and smiles, like Connie Janssen's expressed the feelings of all the graduates on June first.

The top ten per cent of the Senior class worked hard to obtain this title: Jill McDaniel, Anna Maia Andresen, an honorary member, Linda Martin, Kathy Grant, Sidne Brown, Doris Thomsen, Margaret Sanford and Carol Wicklander.

FOREIGN STUDENTS

Anna Maia Andreson's eagerness to learn, to understand our ways, equaled our joy in being able to show her these American customs. Anna Maia spent her time in many activities while maintaining a high grade point average. Anna Maia was sponsored by the American Field Service. When she returned to France, she planned to continue her education to become a lawyer. We cannot forget the happiness she shared with us when she brought France to Sequim.

Zeke and Anna-Maia explained to each other the location and customs of their homelands.

Soon after her arrival, Anna-Maia was introduced to the excitement of a high school football game.

Anna-Maia gained new experience through her home life as well as at school. She washed dishes with her sister Pat, as a daily chore.

INCREASE OUR INTEREST IN OTHER PEOPLES

Perhaps, Ezekiel Kariuki is most remembered for his determination to gain an American education and to learn our methods, so he can work to improve the agriculture conditions in his homeland, Kenya, Africa. We called him Zeke and felt fortunate to be his friends. Through the year Zeke lived and worked at Dents' farm. Zeke has earned our deep appreciation for helping us to understand other peoples, other ideas, other ways.

The whole student body looked forward to meeting our exchange student, Anna-Maia.

Zeke arrived bright and early every morning to attend his eight o'clock class, chemistry.

Anna-Maia gained a greater love for animals, especially her horse, during her stay on an American farm.

ADMINISTRATION INCORPORATES NEW POLICIES

Mr. Lindaas and Mr. Verstegen consider building plans for the proposed high school.

School board members: Jerry Angiuli, Dr. Don Corlett, Everett Lindaas, Seymour Howard, Mrs.

Considering plans for increasing student pep and participation are officers Craig Smith, treasurer;

Robyn Johnson, secretary; Mike Wood, president; and Gale Turton, vice president.

STUDENT COUNCIL CO-ORDINATES

STUDENT ACTIVITIES

Every two weeks the student council members, leaders and representatives of the school organizations, met to co-ordinate the students activities. In the fall, they planned the homecoming activities and purchased new records for the dance and crowns for the royalty. They sponsored a pep dance in December to earn money for the "Help Teddy Walk" fund and to earn money for themselves, a Donkey Basketball game at the beginning of basketball season. To increase the attendance at away games, they paid transporta-

In the spring, they made plans to send the new student body president and the cheerleaders to different summer conferences for special training. Also they earmarked A.S.B. funds to be sure that the bottom half of the scoreboard would be purchased sometime next year. The 1966 Student Council encouraged pep and student participation through these and other activities.

Activities

To learn to do the many jobs that may unknowingly be taken on, to learn to work with people and differing ideas, and to learn through achieving, are the demands of activities. Not only the demands, but they are the purpose.

The finishing touches of maturity are the results of doing a little more than is required. Students who are active, have gained a greater knowledge of people and of life.

and Organizations

STUDENTS ANTICIPATED THE EXCITEMENT OF

Queen candidates, Anna Maia, Jill, and Terri, congratulated Merelene, the newly announced queen.

There was plenty of grueling action on the field when the two hard-hitting teams battled homecoming night.

Last year's Queen, Pam Ward, crowned the royalty, and (left) Queen Merelene and King Ray danced to "Moon River".

HOMECOMING

The dummy, hanging in the main hall, signified the high spirits of pre-game excitement.

Preceding the dance, school spirit was bolstered by the burning of the dummy. Even though we were beaten by Port Townsend, our team put up a brave fight. Still our school spirit came through; as was shown by a large attendance at the dance. With King Ray and Queen Merelene reigning, the couples danced to the music of the Iambics.

Our Pied Piper band led the whole school around and into the football field for the pep assembly.

Thespian members listen to plans and final arrangements for their visit to Seattle.

THESPIANS APPLY THEATRICAL TECHNIQUES IN ALL-SCHOOL PLAY

Helen listens silently to Doctor Parry as he tries to explain a cure for her muteness.

"I'll show you a thing or two if you don't get out of here!"

Constable Williams informs the Warren household that a murderer is at large.

Helen tries to persuade Nurse Barker to check on Mrs. Warren, who she claims has disappeared.

Thespian officers, Sidne Brown, president; Gloria Cerruti, secretary-treasurer; Chuck Simon, point recorder; discuss lighting techniques for the coming all-school play. Not pictured, Jannyce Heaton, vice president.

Laurie Teitzel helps Joyce Mideke with her makeup.

During the school performance, actors and stage crew rush to prepare the set for the next scene.

CAST OF "SPIRAL STAIRCASE"

The play was a murder mystery involving Helen, who was about to be murdered because of her muteness. The audience knew the murderer was one of the Warren household, but which one?

Thespians organized early in the fall and planned many activities. The highlight of these was a field trip to Seattle where they visited the Repertory Theater and saw the Russian play, The Cherry Orchard by Chekov. Thespians also worked hard on the sets and make-up used in the plays to make the plays look as near professional as possible.

DERBY CONSIDERED SUCCESSFUL

HIGHLIGHT OF OLDEST FESTIVAL IN STATE

Sequim held their celebration May 13-15. Reigning over the festival, Queen Jill and Princesses Margaret and Merelene attended all the festivities. Among the many activities were the high school follies, F.F.A. livestock show, demolition derby, and watch drop. The follies were a humorous success. With the aqua show came the annual opening of the swimming pool. Many school organizations took time to raise money through participation in the festival. The Honor Society made and diligently sold pop corn, the Lettermen sold sno-cones. The A.F.S. committee and lady lions sold chicken in order to raise funds for the foreign exchange program.

Supervising individual football shots, Jay Lancaster, sports editor, checks his clipboard to see if everything is running smoothly.

Maybe we're prejudice, but the best organization to work for is the annual staff. Sure there is a lot of work to be done constantly, but there is a reward, too. The reward of being able to put into print the high moments of and what things were peculiar to the previous year. For school curriculum changes as must the annual, from dry formal shots to exciting action shots, from debatedly cute candids to meaningful copy and theme.

"Well, if you'd find another word for . . .", "It's too trite.", and "It's not dynamic enough." were often heard phrases in our attempt to be professionals. And if one were there while the annual staff was closing up for the night, one would always hear, "Is the drawer locker?", "Machines turned off?", "Can you make it tomorrow night?", Good!"

JOURNALISTS

Marcia Baumunk, assignment editor; Pat Mulvahill, assistant editor; and Marlee May, editor; plan the next issue.

Taking the place of the traditional mimeographed school paper, the Prairie Wolf Review was printed by the Angeles Evening News this year. Last fall the Student Council voted to have the paper staff publish bi-monthly editions highlighted with lively action pictures. Each edition included a column entitled "Teens Speak Out" in which students could express their views on various school issues. Also, letters to "Miss McMoo" were printed, answering problems real or contrived. The paper staff was able through the new editions, to put into practice actual journalism techniques of layouts, pictures and true journalistic copy to prepare for possible journalism careers.

Loretta Moody checks with the editor on her column copy.

Linda Matthews hurries to get her column done before the paper goes to the presses.

Marlee May confers with Pat Mulvahill on next month's deadlines.

Photographer and sports editor, Jerry Davis, points out corrections to be made, to reporters, Linda Matthews and Jill McDaniel.

HONOR SOCIETY ENCOURAGED SCHOLARSHIP THROUGH TUTORING PROGRAM

Kathy Grant, vice president, Doris Thomsen, president, Dennis Craig, treasurer, and Sherry Wood, secretary, met during their lunch hour to discuss last minute plans for a special Honor Society assembly.

Senior members await their turn to speak at the vocational assembly.

Honor Society centered its activities around the encouragement of scholarship this year with a tutoring program and an educational column in the school paper. In February they sponsored an assembly featuring a speech on non-college careers. Profits from popcorn and candy sales financed a field trip and the annual scholarship award.

Margaret Sanford, an Honor Society popcorn seller, sold her last bag during hectic half-time.

At their first debate, Duane Dahl and Becky McClurken attempt to refute the team from Bremerton.

Bretha Smith prepares her affirmative argument with the help of Mr. Nash.

A big topic and only a little preparation time were the major worries of the debate team this year. The team started late in the season with five of the six members new to debate. Under the guidance of Mr. Nash, director, the team practiced hard to prepare for the first debate in only two weeks. Although the Sequim team didn't make any winning records, they worked hard and proved that winning isn't the most important part of an activity, but more the experience and knowledge they gained, and the fun.

DEBATORS RALLY TO ARGUE DIFFICULT TOPIC

The debate team practiced long, hard hours. At one practice debate Bruce Paddock and Arlene Tjemsland take a negative stand against Roger Hull and Becky McClurken.

Steve Cole, secretary; Jay Lancaster, treasurer; Tom Cole, president; Bob Schnieder, vice president; and Trevor Gloor, secretary; arrange the main table for a F.F.A. meeting.

FFA AND FHA ENCOURAGE EXTENSION OF

F.F.A. boys set up the concessions stand prior to football season, under the direction of advisor, Mr. Lofdahl.

The Sequim Chapter of the Future Farmers of America took a step forward in making their chapter into an industrious organization. With help from Mr. Lofdahl, advisor, the chapter formed a Dairy and Livestock judging team, parliamentary team, and participated in public speaking contests. The chapter also worked hard on projects including pruning trees and working with livestock. Through buying new equipment and increasing in membership, they should increase their activities, whether in money-making projects or in competition with other chapters.

F.F.A. awards, won last summer, were displayed on the bulletin board in the main hall.

During the 1966 school year, the Sequim Chapter of the Future Homemakers of America was hampered by being able to have meetings after the regular school hours, only. In spite of this, the girls, with the assistance of their advisor, Mrs. Spath, decorated the halls at Christmas time and other such projects. With the coming of spring, plans for their traditional Daddy Date Night, to be held April 6, were discussed.

CLASSROOM WORK

After school, F.H.A. members discuss preliminary plans for Daddy Date Night.

F.H.A. officers spent time planning projects. Jill McDaniel, president; Judy Robbins, secretary; Mrs. Spath, advisor; Brenda Jones, treasurer; and Jannyce Heaton, vice president; discuss the schedule for spring activities.

F.H.A. members make decorations to decorate the school during the Holiday Season.

MUSIC PROGRAMS FEATURED

At right: Band members stand proudly in formation, recalling their performances during football season.

VERSATILE TALENT

At the Veterans' Day assembly in the fall, the Counterpoints led the school in patriotic songs.

Ivy McAllister stands at attention while other band members fumble for their next number for half-time entertainment.

This year's band developed into a good marching group as well as a concert band. During football season, they performed marching drills with the leadership of three majorettes. In December the music department presented a Christmas Concert and in April a Spring Concert. The Christmas Concert was highlighted by a selection in which all the vocal groups and the band performed together. Through the efforts of many students and director, James Wilson, the music department did an admirable job representing the student body through music.

At a home game with Forks, the band strengthened the pep of the cheering section.

Counterpoints members glance over their music while preparing to sing the last number at one of their many Wednesday evening rehearsals.

Band members wait for the bus, which transported them to the Port Townsend basketball game.

GIRLS CLUB INTRODUCED SPRING FASHIONS AT MOTHER'S TEA

Girls Club members make final preparations before appearing in the fashion show put on for the Mothers' Tea.

MOTHER'S TEA

Girls' Club president, Arlene, initiated the Mothers' Tea held May 6, appointing Carol Wicklander and Janice Herrett general chairmen. The Tea, entitled "Roses and Raindrops," featured Sequim's "introduction to spring" fashions under the direction of Gayle Ball and Robyn Johnson. The models displayed the products of their year's sewing, providing a wide selection of weaves and prints, in a variety of styles. A singing group, the sextet, sang two selections as the entertainment of the evening. To the delight of the honored Mothers, the tea and fashion show both ran smoothly.

Brenda Smith executes a perfect jack-knife from the low board.

G.A.A. AND LETTERMEN

'65-'66 officers; Robyn Johnson, Donna Dryke, point recorders; Marggie Sanford, president; and Brenda Smith, vice president; make preliminary choices for a trophy to be awarded to the Basketball Tourney winners. Not pictured; Karen Colville, secretary-treasurer.

G.A.A. began their season in full swing with volleyball and badminton tournaments which provided lively entertainment to all members. Highlighting the season activities was the camp-out held at Heart of the Hill. The hike to Lake Angeles was invigorating despite a few accidental swims in the lake.

G.A.A. members find the water appreciably warm after "taking the plunge" into their new sports activity last fall.

EMPHASIZED SPORTS PARTICIPATION

Lettermen advisor, Mr. Greathouse, discusses plans for the new trophy case with Al Hawley.

Lettermen are actively putting into reality the plans which they made last year to build a new trophy case. This case will be built to display the trophies, and hopefully to inspire the boys to put forth a bigger and better effort in all competition. The lettermen sold sno-cones, a major project, to finance this activity.

Lettermen officers; Al Hawley, president; Louie Kardonsky, vice president; John Witte, secretary-treasurer; look over the present trophy case in order to find ways of improving it.

Dave Blake shows other lettermen how to use the sno-cone machine previous to the demolition derby.

LIBRARIANS AND OFFICE GIRLS OBTAIN ACTUAL JOB EXPERIENCE

Office girls; Linda Oswald, Sidne Brown, Marsha Dunlap, Marggy Sanford, Marcia Baumunk and Maryann May listen as Mrs. Mogan explains the ditto machine.

Preparing the overdue slips are librarians; Michele Angiuli, Leann Brown, Vicki Roedell, Pam Campbell and Sandy Johnson.

Librarians; Ruth Pinkerton, Carol Bartee, Nancy Nygard, and Jeanette Echternkamp, replace borrowed books on the shelves.

Straightening the main office desk are office girls; Cheryl Smith, Jena Simdars, Brenda Jones, Jill McDaniel and Inez Brueckner. Not pictured are Janie Cheadle and Doris Thom-sen.

Although the cheering section can be in agony over the excitement of four overtimes, or in agony over our team being trounced, the team feels it more and thus gains more out of sports. An extreme example was of the boys who had gumption enough to try to establish track here once again. They would sometimes start an event knowing they had no chance of excelling, but they would still try, if for only the joy of competition; and, maturity wise, became the better for doing so.

ERRORS AND INJURIES

Wolves display aggressive blocking against the stronger Vashon Pirates.

Despite early season losses, the wolves, with the help of an efficient coaching staff, continued to improve their potential abilities. With a tremendous effort, both offensively and defensively, the wolves developed impressive ball handling, aggressiveness and a grave desire to win. This effort and desire was shown particularly in the Vashon game where the wolves demonstrated a ground gaining offense and hard hitting defense, only to lose 6-0 in the closing minutes. In spite of their many injuries throughout the season, the wolves won three of their last four games, giving the coaches and student body a great deal of satisfaction knowing that the '65 wolves never gave up.

VARSITY FINDS SEASON TOUGH BUT

The Sequim Wolves started slow but came on strong to complete their '65-'66 season with an 8-12 record. The lack of confidence, poise and student body support were determining factors in this final record. These scores don't show, however, what fine basketball the wolves played at times, with full support from Coach Riehl. To highlight the season, the wolves took the league leading Townsend Redskins into four overtimes, only to lose 49-51. Looking to next year, the wolves have an extremely good chance of winning the league title, with the return of five junior lettermen.

Cheerleaders, Peggy, Marsha and Janice, hail another basket with the familiar chant, "And the score goes up another notch!"

SCHOOL SPIRIT

Optimistically, the cheerleaders looked forward to the chance to improve Sequim's school spirit and team support. The Spirit Jug - a novelty for rousing enthusiasm among the classes - was introduced at the pep assemblies. The class of 67 proved to be the most energetic. Efforts were also turned toward reorganizing Pep Club and revising its constitution. For the first time, members chose a uniform and emblem to be the official uniform for Pep Club. Although school spirit didn't amount to what was expected, it is hoped that with the improved Pep Club, next year's cheering staff will have a good start for increased pep.

WOLVES PO

The Sequim diamond men had tough competition this year, plus a lack of pitching ability and experience. Having trouble at bat and in the field, they constantly improved right up to the last game. This improvement showed best in the no-hitter with Angeles. They lost, though, through costly errors in the final inning. Coach Harriman worked the boys hard for a rough season, but he had some entertaining and humorous moments because of the sportsmanlike attitude of the whole team.

TRACK BEGINS AGAIN WITH ENCOURAGING

Inspirational Award winner Chuck Simon demonstrates determination in the mile run against Bainbridge.

High jumper Jay Lancaster leaps high in practicing for the meet with Vashon and North Mason.

The mile relay team, Dennis Brownfield, Mike Carrow, Chuck Simon, and Craig Smith, placed sixth at the district meet.

Three fine hurdlers, Dale Turton, Dave Janssen and Mike Carrow, worked hard to gain the form necessary to excell.

Richard Wiggins, consistant winner in the 220 and 100 yard dash practices at the starting blocks.

SUCCESS

In javelin, Mike McCrorie, throwing, Dick Johnson and Pete Holden put forth fine performances all season with Dick receiving sixth place at District.

Craig Smith, who went on to the District meet, worked with teammates, Alan Hawley and Mike McCrorie, to prepare for the sub-district qualifying meet.

The new start in track was an extreme success for the Sequim Wolves in 1966. The boys turning out found that track was an entirely new sport because it was an individual sport where a boy's success was entirely up to his own personal effort. The team had a disappointing start at Lakeside but improved enough to be in contention at every meet. There were no records broken, but the team put forth a tremendous effort in beginning a sport that had died out nine years ago. With more team effort, track will continue at Sequim. If Sequim has more successful seasons, records will be made and broken.

Pole vaulters, Jack Richardson, vaulting, Trevor Gloor and Jim Bartee, showed the most improvement during the season.

GIRLS' AND BOYS' TENNIS TEAMS MET

Linda stretches to reach a long shot and send a return fast across the net.

Sherry Wood and Sandy York synchronized efforts for a smooth moving doubles team.

Our Girls' tennis team overcame highly competitive opposition. They had a successful season because of a series of exciting close matches. The experience of the lettermen combined with the interest and enthusiasm by the newcomers, resulted in a fine 1966 record.

The Girls' Tennis team takes a moment off from their strenuous turn-out. Squad members are Peggy Kjerulf, Linda Martin, Donna Dryke, and front, Sandy York and Sherry Wood.

LIVELY COMPETITION

Dennis Craig races toward the net to place a fast and strategic return.

The Boys' tennis team faced a hard season this year. Their only returning letterman was Dennis Craig. A three year man, Dennis supported the squad in the top singles spot. The squad earned a fair position with several near wins. But, as Coach Greathouse would say "Close ones don't count."

Boys' Squad members: Dave Mayfield, Ed Flick, Dennis Craig, and front, Jerry Davis and Jeff Gaston pause after a match.

JUNIOR HIGH SECTION CHALLENGES STAFF

Larry Robbins, sports editor, looks for information to help him complete the junior high football section.

Part of the reason of the success of this year's Greywolf is due to the hard working junior high annual staff. Through the efforts of an efficient staff, with the assistance of a most tolerable editor they produced a section which incorporated many new ideas.

Mike Tinnesand, junior high editor, brought new ideas as well as new staff procedures to the junior high section.

Celeste discusses new ideas for seventh grade candids with representative, Sam Bugge.

Celeste Kardonsky checks over receipts as she carries out her job as business manager.

Cheerleaders; Terry Greathouse, Roxie Trotter, Marsha Gitchell, Marisa Swanson, Kathy Baumunk, Bonnie Robb, and pep promoter, Trudi Gault, worked hard to perfect motions for yells.

PEP SQUAD BACKS TEAM

The pep squad for the year '65-'66 added a pep promoter to assist them in supporting the Cubs. Also their inspiring Pep Assemblies led to greater attendance at all games. Their enthusiastic cheers and cheering section may have been a deciding factor in the Cubs exceptional season.

Cheerleaders look on anxiously as Cubs run for their first down.

During tense moments of the game, the pep squad encourages the team by leading cheering section in "Go."

Those who were on the first string this year were the line: Rollie Sears, Jack Ponting, Mike O'Dell, David Daniels, Bruce Ludke, Jon Dunlap, and Doug Carpenter, quarterback; Robert Funston, backfield; Mike Tinnesand, Bruce Schade, and Marty Knapman.

CUBS EARN AN UNDEFEATED SEASON

The Cubs had a very impressive 1965 season. They accomplished something which has not been done since 1949, an undefeated season! This success was due to the determination of the boys who developed into a well-rounded team under the guidance and encouragement of their coaches, Mr. Copeland and Mr. Greathouse.

Though the team had only two weeks to prepare for the season, they worked hard, practicing both on Saturdays and in the evenings to build up an offense based on exceptional running and passing tactics and a defense that derived its strength from blocking and tackling tactics. The previous experiences of many of the players also added to the team's strength. Their efforts were successful and the team had a completely victorious season.

Sequim offense runs the ball up the center.

The members of the team who made up the second string were the line; John Gurtler, Gordon Sears, Jim Rosanbalm, Sam Bugge, Bob Case, Larry Robbins and Gary Case, quarterback, Jerry Carpenter, backfield, Dave Burdick, Steve Keiser and Martin Peterson.

Sequim defense holds against a Forks pass.

Another Junior High victory was recorded by the score board.

Alan Millet and Max Heaton discuss strategy with Coach Copeland and Coach Greathouse.

Members of the freshmen Cub team were, first row: Bruce Ludke, Steve Percival, Glenn Fisher, Steve Granum, Gary Avery, Keith Burfitt, Larry Robbins, and

FRESHMEN COMPETE AND GAIN HIGH STANDINGS

Alan Millet struggles for a jump-shot but is stopped by Townsend defense.

The freshmen Cubs started their '65-'66 season out well, but then lost two halfway through the season. They made a complete recovery, however, and came through with a 9-2 season standing. Under the supervision of Coach Copeland, they learned much about the game of basketball. From the combined results of their football and basketball season, there seems to be much in store for the football and junior varsity squads next year.

Ninth grade ready for toss-up.

The crowd looks on in anticipation of a basket.

EIGHTH GRADERS LEARN NEW TECHNIQUES

Participating on the eighth grade team were, first row: Philip Micheals, Dan Campbell, Jamie Blake, Kenneth Brueckner, Rickey Blank, Dave Burdick, Tim Lancaster, Steve Schindler and Coach Greathouse.

SEVENTH GRADERS DEVELOP BASIC SKILLS

Those who participated in intrascholastic sports for the first time were, front row: Sam Bugge, Jim Muller, Don Daniels, Rikk Schlafman, Gary Case strains for the tip-off.

TEAM EFFORT RESULTS IN SOFTBALL VICTORY

Gene Rogers connects for a double.

This year as in preceding years spring was the starting point for another softball season. Four teams were organized in two rounds of play. In each round teams competed with all the other teams. The winner of each round robin then entered in a series of three games to determine the overall champion. Darryl Sanford's team won the championship.

Infielders wait anxiously as Sanford hits a slow grounder.

The hall bulletin board tells the story of games lost and won.

TRACK INSPIRES INDIVIDUAL EFFORT

Dan Campbell takes note of Schade's discus technique.

Showing good form, Marty Pederson clears the bar.

For the first time there has been a track program in the junior high. Although the turnout could have been greater, those participating were dedicated. Ron Newton coached the boys and led them to a successful season, always stressing the fact that track is an individual effort, and if a team member breaks the tape first or jumps highest or throws farthest he, himself, knows that it is his personal victory.

Mike Tennesand attempts to vault over a new height.

JUNIOR HIGH CHORUS ACQUIRES EXPERIENCE THROUGH SEVERAL APPEARANCES

The freshmen class with a lot of time and practice turned out to be a remarkable singing group. Joining the high school at the Christmas Concert and the Spring Concert, they presented, among others, the arrangement, "The Friendly Beast." In April the chorus performed before the P.T.A. and sang folk and religious songs. The new chorus program provided the needed experience and background for a more interested senior high chorus, hopefully conveying to the students a greater appreciation of singing and music. Any applause or other kind of reward was the result of the many hours put in outside the classroom by both the students and instructor, Mr. Wilson. Their group consisted of about seventy members and met two days a week replacing health classes held in previous years.

THE EDITOR AND STAFF'S FINAL SAY

Dear Readers,

It is our fervent hope that you thoroughly enjoy and appreciate this year's GREYWOLF. We have spent much time and work attempting to put out the best one we know how.

We also hope that instead of looking for your picture only, you will take a look at it as a whole, and try to understand what we did to make this book unique. You'll find a broad hint if you read the copy on the editor's combination photo-essay, division pages.

We've had our say, except that we would like to thank you for being at Sequim High School, so that we could have the fun and experience putting out an annual about and for you.

Sincerely yours,
The 1966 GREYWOLF staff
and

Kathy Grant

Editor

Kathy, I can't say in words how much it means to me - but it was so much fun, +
tears and games all day! -
Please write to me - See you - Have a great
out of annual with you
Buck now - Hope you have fun - but be good

Love
Janice

Dear Kathy
It's a great annual! (Better too because we found 3 pictures of me so far!) Just kidding really.
Be good and the best of luck,

Love always,
Bette Moody

Kathy,
Your annual was the best!
Have fun at college but don't flunk out. Best of luck in the future, who knows?? Someday you may be milking
registered Guernseys!!

Love
Laurie

Kathy,
I have really had fun
knowing you this past year. Good luck in the future. Stay as sweet
as you, alreadly all.

Dear Kathy,
Congratulations
on & get well soon.
Thanks for the dedication and luck to you on college.
Good luck & good program

my mom know
you mom no much knowing you can't no chance with your mom
of my being lucky my

Kathy,

Best of luck
to a cool kid,
HAVE fun!! even if "leg" was a crummy
class.

Love

Dear Kathy & wife to and a very good friend and a very good neighbor and friend.
I hope we don't have contact in the years to come.
I will be good at college.
Love & live forever

Dear Kathy
Best of luck
in the future to your sweet classmate with a lot in her favor. Be good and always as sweet as you are she'll say

"I'm not now & you
are my friend
you will be my son always and you will always be your mother's best friend."
